Directions: At the traffic light intersection of Hershey Route 322 and University Drive is the Penn State Hershey Medical Center. Turn into the Medical Center.

Heading toward the Medical Center, bear to the right, then immediately to the right again onto Campus Drive. Continue along Campus Drive, following the curve and keeping the open fields on your right. On the left, you'll pass several One-Way parking exits. Watch for Crescent Rd.

Turn left onto Crescent Rd and make an immediate left into "Parking Lot B Staff Parking." Your car will trigger the lowered barrier pole to rise up. Do not be discouraged by the lowered pole at the parking entrance. After 5:00 pm, a pass is no longer required to park in this area. The gate opens automatically for every car that approaches. Park in any of the unmarked spaces in front of the Medical Center Building.

Getting to the Lecture Room

From the parking lot, follow the pedestrian walkway and enter the Hershey Medical Center through the "Heart and Vascular Institute - North Entrance." Once inside the building, walk straight ahead until you see the elevators on the left. Take the elevators to the floor announced in the program flyer posted near the elevator doors. Upon exiting the elevator, follow the series of flyers posted on the walls. They will take you to the lecture room.
